LITTLE RED RIDING HOOD - Concha Pasamar

Concha Pasamar, a renowned author in Spanish-language children's literature, translates and reworks Charles Perrault's version of the tale, staying far from later revisions that many classics have undergone in recent years. However, classics remain so because their symbolism and message are still fully relevant today, as is the case here. Added to this are the lyricism of the prose and the author's evocative atmospheres, with illustrations in black and red that, through her pencil, play with tradition while offering a contemporary perspective.

A WINTER GIFT - Concha Pasamar

On a cold school day, the protagonist longs to see snow again. On the way home, the signs of winter awaken the feeling that snow is about to drape the city in its white mantle. This hunch accompanies him as he snuggles into bed at night, only to discover the next morning a world blanketed in fresh, untouched snow. Once again, Concha Pasamar offers us beautiful, delicate illustrations accompanied by a text rich in lyricism, highlighting the simple beauty of everyday life.

TOPICS: SEASONS, WINTER, POETRY

AUTUMN TIME - Concha Pasamar

A timeless album that explores the beauty of apparently insignificant moments and subtly encourages us to live them from a perspective attentive to the present—a brief itinerary through the sensations that the arrival of autumn causes in the protagonist. A book of discovery, an ode to change and beauty. A story-book about autumn for autumn.

TOPICS: AUTUMN, FAMILY, POETRY

WHEN MOM WORE BRAIDS - Concha Pasamar

A tale about the passage of time, the changes that affects us and the opportunities to come.

A look into a not so distant childhood that is very different to life's sudden changes. It is a bridge for a dialogue between generations.

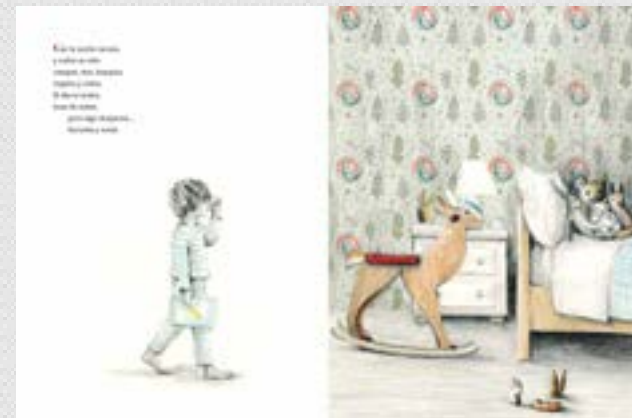

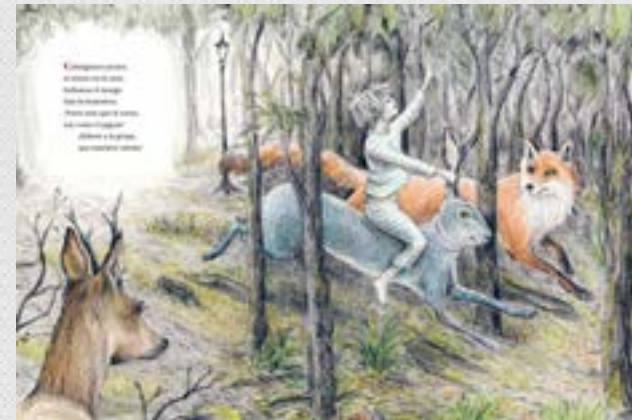

TOPICS: PAST, RELATIONSHIP, MOTHER&DAUGHTER

TIME TO DREAM - Concha Pasamar

Bedtime is a special time in childhood. That moment when, tired after a long day, what we have experienced runs through our minds, reading sometimes accompanies this moment and even, sometimes, wakefulness, sleep and reading come together. That's what happens to our protagonist just when he goes to sleep. The shadows that the lit lamp in his room projects on the wall make him live an adventure in which fantastic characters intermingle with literary ones. The voice of the narration itself creates a game between mysterious and magical, fun and at the same time hypnotic, which is mixed with the always delicate illustrations of Concha Pasamar.

THE BEST PET IN THE WORLD - Arianna Squilloni, Karina Letelier

Arianna Squilloni has crafted a beautiful story which grows out of a short and sweet conversation between two friends: one is a daydreamer who has fallen in love with a small snail (the best pet in the world), but her pal is much more analytical. While the first girl presents a wildly idealized vision of the little creature, the second provides genuine data to situate the snail within the world. It's a story with elements of an informational picture book, a picture book exploring friendship and freedom as extraordinary gifts, the love of little things, and the transformative power of a child's gaze.

A PLANE TO FLIGHT - Daniel Cañas, Ale Senso

Mario is a very curious child. He is always attentive to what is happening around him. While they report the latest news on the radio, he happily plays with his plane.

Through Mario's eyes we discover the peaceful gaze of childhood on the world. It's all part of a game where an overflowing imagination is capable of making us spread our wings and fly.

Daniel Cañas creates a poetic text that plays with the double meaning of some words that go from being related to the field of war to the everyday imagination of a child. Ale Senso interprets this life-damaging transformation into illustrations with a dreamlike touch and strongly symbolic that leave you breathless.

THE SADDEST BOOK IN THE WORLD - Florencia del Campo, Leticia Esteban

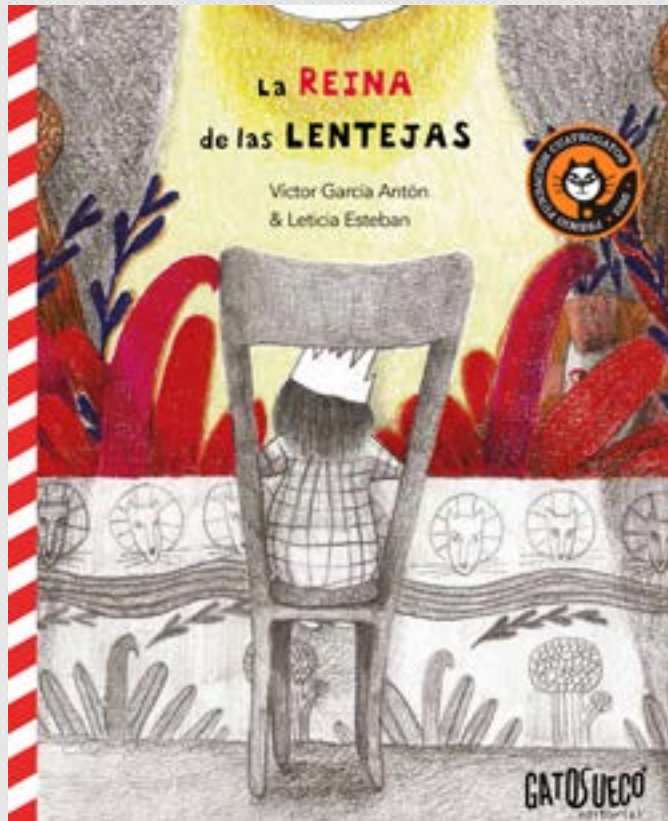

A teacher reads The Saddest Book in the World to the boys and girls. But that book is a bit confusing: is it sad? Is it scary? Is it for adults? Is it a silly book? There are those who don't understand anything, others have gotten involved in the story, and some have gotten bored. The only important thing is that it ends, but to know how it ends, you have to read it.

We don't know if it's sad. The saddest book in the world, but that's the best, that's for sure....

ODE TO SUMMER - Francesca Aiello

A silent book that celebrates the magic and poetry of summer, a time free from obligations where imagination can flow freely. The story follows a little girl who carefully builds a sandcastle, distracted only by an ice cream. A curious crab joins her game, appearing almost like a dream or an imaginary friend.

When the waves destroy the castle, the little girl, initially discouraged, rebuilds it. At nightfall the mother, however, calls in a loud voice: it's time to go home. While darkness envelops the beach, the crab takes the measurements of the castle and invites all his friends to live there and party, turning it into a dream-like feast, symbolizing the blurred line between reality and fantasy during the summer.

BIOPHILIA - Cathy Eliot

The term "Biophilia" literally means "love for life" and is commonly used to express the innate connection between humans and nature. Cathy Eliot's Biophilia is a collection of 14 words from around the world that give imagery and substance to humans' instinct to relate to everything that is alive: the plant world, animals, insects, and even everything that leads to a change in life forms, such as the sun, rain, snow, and wind.

The words chosen by the author are untranslatable into languages other than the native one, and in some cases, they refer to expressions used in the past or in literary language, which it would be nice to be able to use in everyday language. The images and words follow the rhythm of the four seasons.

SHE WOLF - Pablo Albo, Cecilia Moreno

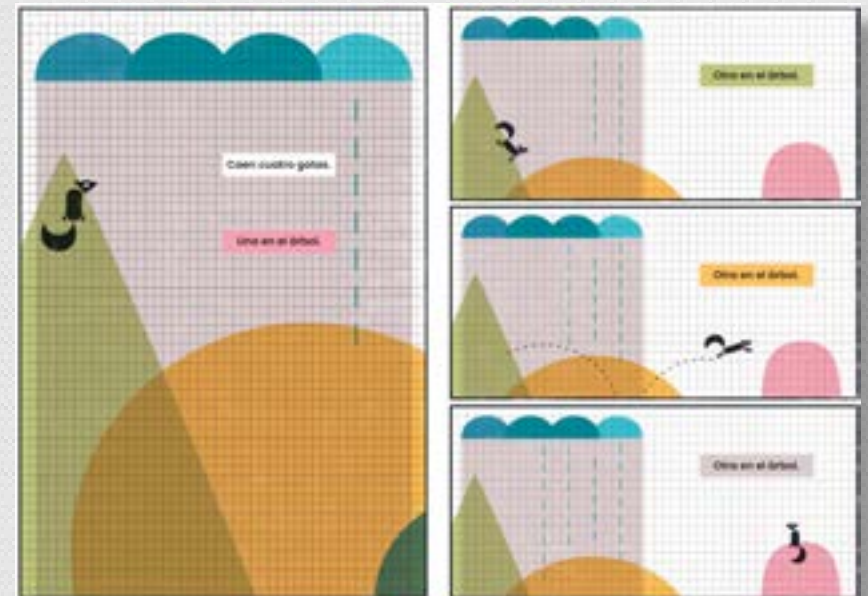

SHE WOLF is a beautiful illustrated album that invites us to share the path of a wolf.

As the jury said:

Pablo Albo's text is extraordinary.

The minimalist, carefully structured, repetitive, purely descriptive and somewhat hermetic text is congenially echoed in Cecilia Moreno's pictures. Monochrome shapes, lines, dots merge at times into geometric patterns. A true discovery.

THE DAY OTTO FOUND A STONE IN HIS PATH - Mo Gutierrez Serna

This is the story of Otto, a little dog who found himself springing along the path of the wall, heading to a strawberry field to enjoy the delicious fruit. But one day, long on the road, he found a huge stone that prevented him from passing.

An album about changing perspective and making obstacles a means to find new paths. A fun, tender, simple album. Because sometimes to overcome problems we only need a small change of attitude

INSIDE THE LION - Pablo Albo, Anna Font

A hilarious picture book full of penguins and other creatures that come out of the belly of a gluttonous lion.

Doctor Durrell finds a huge lion with a terrible stomachache at the door of her clinic. Bravely facing the feline's jaws, she sets out to help him. This leads to a parade of characters and impossible, humor-filled situations—featuring plenty of penguins, lots and lots of penguins! A delightful book that places us in the shoes of a doctor dealing with a rather unusual patient. Pablo Albo masterfully showcases his talent as a writer, using simple language, rhythmic structures, and humorous twists that connect with children and their interests. Anna Font brings the story to life with visually rich characters and beautifully crafted settings, full of artistic sensitivity.

WORDS - Guridi

Words is a work of art to offer as a gift, a jewel for young and old lovers of the picture books.

A book that talks about communication, love, a kind of visual poem that leads us by the hand through a series of illustrations that represent the human figure, the double pages serve as a border between the two interlocutors in each scene and in them we intuit the Words that are implicit between both faces, sometimes they communicate, others are silent, sometimes they turn their backs or are upside down, visual metaphors of everything that we keep inside us and that is sometimes so difficult to express.

TOPICS: LIFE, WORDS, COMMUNICATION, SILENCE

THE GREAT BEYOND - Silvia&David Fernández, Mercè Lopez

The artists of Galaxy Circus risks their lives every single day: they fly in the trapeze without a safe net, they swallow swords and fire, they are shot by cannons... Maybe for that reason they talk so much about death. Is there an after-life? How would it be? At Galaxy Circus there are so many different points of view.

INTREPIDAS. The incredible travels of 25 dauntless women - Cristina Pujol, Rena Ortega

Intrepids rediscovers the incredible travels of 25 female explorers, some of them forgotten. Following her steps, we can learn how they overcame their fears to climb the highest mountains, to swing the world by feet or by bike, to travel through space, to fly between continents, to cross deserts, or to dive into the greater depths of the sea... All of them discovered an important lesson: that the journey is the destination.

WHEN FROGS GROW HAIR - Pato Mena

When frogs grow hair, when pigs fly, when chickens have teeth... Language gives a lot of play and proof of this is the variety of phrases that each country or culture has invented to say that something will never happen. In spite of themselves, the children of the world listen to them a lot through the mouths of their parents. This book is an exciting journey through some of these expressions, the più curiosi, seasoned with a little touch of humor; well, perhaps quite humorous.

BIGFOOT VS YETI (A love story) - James Foley

The Bigfoot and Yeti have been enemies for as long as anyone can remember, living on opposite sides of an enormous rift – too wide to cross, too deep to fathom.

But when one young Bigfoot and one youthful Yeti decide to settle the feud once and for all, they discover more than they bargained for.

A very hairy tale of heroics.

STARS IN THEIR EYES - Jessica Walton, Aśka

Set at a fantasy fiction convention featuring disabled, queer characters.

Maisie and her mum are going on a road trip to Maisie's first ever fan convention. Maisie has always dreamed of meeting her hero and role model, an amputee actor who plays a kick-arse amputee character in Maisie's favourite tV show.

Fancon is exciting and exhausting – Maisie has never met so many of her own people and finding a whole community of queer disabled people is awesome. Then she meets Ollie, and they have an instant connection. They share poffertjes and life stories and a love of fan fiction. Everything would be perfect, if only they didn't live so far apart.

HOUSE - Dan Giovannoni, Charlotte Lane

House is the story of a lonely little house, all by itself in the world, without anyone to open its front door. House abandons its foundation and launches into the sky in search of a friend. From its aerial vantage it can see the whole world – and then it comes across someone just like it; someone lonely; a child, all by herself in the middle of a storm. House whisks her away to safety, and as the lonely little girl slowly makes her way through each room, she discovers the wonders inside – the fantastical contraptions, the kitchen preparing anything you please, the periscope that lets you watch the world roll by down on the ground. House is a place of calm, of distraction, and of rest – the house is a friend to someone in need.

THE HOLE STORY - Kelly Canby

Charlie is excited when he finds a hole. He picks it up and puts it in his pocket, but soon realizes that having a hole in your pocket is not a good thing. A hole in your backpack is even worse. So Charlie sets out through town to find a new owner for the hole. He asks many different people – from a seamstress to a road worker – if they'd like a hole, but each one has a reason why the hole is not for them. Disheartened, Charlie finally puts the hole back on the ground but a small rabbit, has been following Charlie throughout his quest, knows just what to do with it..
